Beatles Mop Up About $1 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Accountants and lawyers have begun a financial mop-up operation in the wake of a 30-day Beatles tour of Canada and the United States.

How Long Since You Read Your Bible Right Through?

How long is it since you read the Bible through?

J. B. Phillips in the Translators' preface to "The Young Church in Action" suggests it is one of the most common phenomena of modern times that it is considered perfectly respectable to be absolutely ignorant of the Christian faith. The plain fact is that men have given the New Testament their serious attention and found it spurious. But that they have never given it their serious attention at all.

Some say the Bible is difficult, some that it is obscure, others that it is obsolete.

DIFFICULT—The literature of past centuries reveals a comprehensive grasp of its contents. And anyone who has frequented the churches has met the many of limited formal education who love the Bible and have mastered its precepts.

OBSCURE—The Psalmist has made clear the approach for successful understanding. "Open thou mine eyes that I may behold wonderful truths out of the law." Jesus said to His followers, "I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. However when He, the Spirit of Truth is come, He will guide you into all truth." In writing to the Corinthians, Paul represents the natural man may be both learned and eloquent but unable to comprehend the spiritual content of the scriptures. "But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." (1 Corinthians 2:14)

John Wycliffe gave as his rule of interpretation: "It shall greatly help ye to understand scripture, if thou mark, not only what is spoken or written, but of whom, and to whom, with what words, at what time, where, to what intent, with what circumstances, considering what goeth before and what followeth."

If the Bible appears meaningless, we would do well to consider our approach to its truths. Why should we read the Bible? Primarily we read because this is the Word of God, the manifestation of Jesus Christ, His Person as "God manifest in the flesh." His sacrificial death and His resurrection, which constitute the Gospel. Through the Scriptures, GOD SPEAKS TO MAN.

OBSCURE—God is not just One who spoke to men in times past. He is the Living God and He speaks in every generation to every generation. "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word which proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

Read the Bible regularly, systematically, thoughtfully, reverently, prayerfully, expectantly, and humbly. Search the scriptures and find the ETERNAL LIFE. John declares is the end of such study—Rev. Edgar A. Demer, Pastor, Evangel Lutheran.

Columbia Treaty

The controversial debate about the Columbia River development is ended and the treaty between the United States and Canada is now a fait accompli. It remains now to get on with the work and to put the scheme into operation as soon as possible.

On Wednesday the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Canada and the Premier of British Columbia met at the border to complete the agreement in ceremonial formalities. During the past decade there have been times when it appeared that such a day would never come. So bitter and so controversial was the dispute over many phases of the Columbia proposal that it seemed the clash of personalities would make agreement impossible.

However agreement was reached and the treaty is now operative. British Columbia has received its money for the sale of power in the United States and, indeed, the province, which is charged with the construction of the project, has already called for preliminary tenders and in one or two cases has work already underway.

While many persons over the years participated in the negotiations, the greater part of the credit for the final solution must be given the premier of this province, Hon. W. A. C. Bennett. Mr. Bennett was one of the great controversial figures of the negotiations in recent years. It was he who conceived the idea of preselling the province's downstream power benefits to finance the construction of the required dams. This was contrary to Ottawa's policy of not selling power outside the country and for this and other reasons Ottawa, under the Diefenbaker regime, violently opposed the Bennett proposal. The controversy was violent, acrimonious and personal. However, Mr. Bennett sold his ideas to the Pearson government and accord was reached. The agreement marked in the border ceremonies on Wednesday can be considered no other way than a victory for Mr. Bennett.

The accord the treaty signified, of course, is much more than that. As speakers pointed out during the ceremonies, it is but another instance of the understanding and co-operation that exists between this country and the United States.

The Wednesday ceremony does mean that for the next decade there will be hustle and bustle just to our east over the Monashee Mountains. The Kootenays, which have lagged behind the rest of the province in general development, will experience all the advantages that large construction projects bring to an area. But these advantages will reach far beyond the boundaries of the Kootenays. They will spread throughout the length and breadth of the province and eventually will be perpetuated, presumably, through the advantages low cost power brings in its wake.

QUEBEC PRESS VIEWS WORLD EVENTS

B.C.'s Loan To Enrich Us? —And Flag, Fanaticism, Japan

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste—The way things are going, Mr. B.C. Premier Bennett is making himself the banker for the poor provinces. It is a kind of vengeance for the man who hardly a year ago, according to his enemies, was on the verge of bankruptcy. It is pretty rare to see candidates for bankruptcy lend money to others. One could pretend this is a special case and pass it over. That would be too easy.

There are Quebec citizens who will remember one fact—that Mr. Bennett is a Social Creditor, that Social Credit has always opposed borrowing and feels that money spent on interest or to repay loans should be used for the population's welfare.

The deal between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Lesage is troubling. Some have called it a humiliation. This is not the first one for Quebec. It has a habit of going around on its knees. Mr. Lesage expressed pride in borrowing from British Columbia. We cannot blame him. But if he was logical he would make a Social Creditor. He would make an effort to pay Quebec's debts as quickly as possible and then begin lending out the money not needed for education, hospitals, roads and all the rest.

It is of little importance to know whether Quebec has made a good business deal in borrowing from British Columbia. What must be known is why this last loan was made. Maybe we will be told that to borrow is to enrich oneself—(Sept. 11.)

Montreal-Matin—To judge by the number of telephone calls received at (this) newspaper from people expressing anger about the behavior of certain of our young people, one can only think that the cup overflowed and that too much is too much.

They say to us: "Write against violence; flag, punish, demand the rope for the criminals. Honest people must be allowed to live in peace, the bandits and loafers must cease making their own laws, the revolutionaries of all varieties must end their vociferating and put a stop to their noise-making."

For myself, I'm certainly in favor of that. I'd very much like to do my part. By instinct I am an enemy of violence and the demonstration I saw with my own eyes (Sept. 7) in front of the offices of this paper (near Lafontaine Park) is not the kind of thing to change my opinion.

I detest fanaticism under all its guises. I cannot tolerate hatred—racial hatred or any other form of hatred. I cannot help shuddering when I see young people, their faces distorted by I don't know what evil, rip to pieces with their own hands the Union Jack.

But it also is necessary that the parents should do their part. How did it happen that on Sept. 7 there were some in that mob of youths who were scarcely 12, 13 and 14 years of age?

How was it that all these demonstrators were young—of school age, I imagine, or university students? Have they escaped from parental authority? What sort of education do they get at home?

Montreal Le Devoir—A committee, says an American humorist, is a gathering of bigwigs who can do nothing as individuals but who come together to decide that nothing can be done.

One can't help but think of this rather cynical aphorism in reflecting on the decision announced... in the Commons by Mr. Pearson (setting up a flag committee)...

Mr. Pearson has agreed to set aside for the moment the particular flag model had chosen. The prime minister has displayed realism. He has recognized his initial error and is unwilling to get bogged down in it.

But this concession should not engender any illusions about the fundamental objective (of the committee), Canada must be given a distinctive national flag—that is, a new one eliminating the insignia of any past allegiance and incapable of being mistaken for the flag of any other nation. There is no need at all to start the business again from scratch.

A number of French Canadians consider these flag discussions useless. We do not share this opinion.

Quebec Le Soleil—Canada attaches much importance to its relations with Japan. They could be called a constant preoccupation of Canadian policy because of our coastline on the Pacific and the consequent presence of our shores of Japanese vessels. This preoccupation continues, as is demonstrated by the high-ranking delegation that went to Tokyo for a comprehensive discussion of Canadian-Japanese issues...

Japan has become commercially important to Canada. It is our third-largest trading partner, after the United States and the United Kingdom. Needless to say, Japan is not always satisfied with these relations... Japan has an expert work force with a living-standard below that of Canada. Industrial salaries are lower and this can be a chronic problem for our Canadian products. Japan sells textiles, shoes, electrical appliances, toys and many other products on our markets. It could sell at a great profit but the federal government must... apply quota policies and revise tariffs. Otherwise there would be a risk of increasing unemployment in Canada.

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Overlanders Continue Saga

By ART GRAY

The Overlanders' misadventure at Quatsino Mouth according to Fortune's account on Sept. 15, 1963, 11 eventful days after leaving Tete Jaune Cache. Their arrival in the Cariboo gold fields following the long journey from Eastern Canada proved something of an anticlimax. They found that thousands of men had gone in ahead of them during the summer, but the great majority had left or were in the process of doing so disgusted with themselves for paying heed to newspaper reports and disembarking with the country.

That same evening a number of them arrived from Williams Creek, their clothing torn, without money, and carrying their blankets and other gear on their backs. They acknowledged that a few had found rich ground but the great majority had nothing to show for their work.

All of them marvelled that the Overlanders had come down the Fraser in rafts, believing such a trip impossible. Few of the Overlanders' friends going into the gold diggings for the weather was beginning to turn bad and there was also fear of a lack of food for the many thousands in the area during the coming winter. The bulk of the Overlanders started south on foot, over the trail down the Fraser to the coast, and the livestock was taken down river with them.

Some found work with the road building crews near Clinton. Fortune and Watie decided to stay, and Fortune kept his beloved ox with him. He and Watie thought that only 60 miles from Williams Creek, they would like to see the diggings for themselves. They headed on foot for Cottonwood House, the ox following like a pet. They met pack-trains coming from the mines, and many miners returning disappointed, but they received the greatest surprise when they met a train of camels, coming heavily laden from the gold fields.

CAMELS SCARE—The sight of the camels struck terror into the poor ox, and they had to retreat into the bush and hide until the camels went by. Men with pack-trains complained so much about these camels stampeding their animals that the government finally ordered them off the route. They were eventually turned loose by their owner to fend for themselves, and a few were reported to have wandered into the Okanagan later.

Due to the miry condition of the road, the two Overlanders only made 15 miles a day. When they reached Haida Mountain they found extensive grass lands, so left the ox with a couple of men herding cattle, and carried their packs from there in.

Richfield was the mining centre then, and they saw the famous Steele and Abbot claim, the Black Jack tunnel and several rich claims above the town. They decided not to stay the winter, due to fear of food shortage. There was plenty of liquor about, but things to eat were in short supply. On their trip to Williams Creek they met a famous character of that day, Carlos Cameron. Fortune mentions that he was in more trouble at the time, his wife was seriously ill (she died some weeks later). They stayed eight days in the gold fields, and then left in a snow storm.

They found the ox and headed to Quatsino Mouth in company with many others heading for a more temperate climate. The St. Catharines and Ottawa parties had arrived there, and most of them had decided to go down river. Only three Overlanders are believed to have spent the winter in the Cariboo.

RARE PRIVILEGE—Fortune and Watie and the ox went down river to Alexandria by raft. The next day being Sunday they did not travel, but says Fortune, "we heard Rev. Shepherds preach to a few men and felt this a rare privilege."

Instead of taking the Fraser River route to the coast they decided to go via the Chinookan, by Bentons, Arden, a route used by some that reached the sea more quickly, but high up the coast at Bella Coola. Barton, a trader, used this route for his pack trains, but the Indians were reported hostile. The next day they crossed the river and climbed to the lake head, and set out to follow Bentons' trail to the sea. The ox began to suffer from sore feet after leaving Alexis Creek, and at a point west of Puntal Lase, Fortune left the animal to be cared for over the winter, with a Western Ontario man who had stacks of hay, put up for the Haida Indians. He parted from the animal, which he called "Brimble," with sorrow.

Later on he was greatly grieved to learn that a party of hungry miners, starving for food, found the ox, killed it, and dried the meat over a fire, to make it lighter to carry. They left $25 for payment which was received later by Fortune. It was horrible to find one day by some chance, that to him, who had been asked to deliver it. This was a common practice in days when money was scarce, and the means unreliable.

Continuing their journey to the coast, they were hounded by some Indians, but no serious harm resulted, though several white men were murdered on the route a year or so later. At the head of the river leading to Bentons, Arden, there was a store, owned by Barton, but they found the storekeeper ill with smallpox, and signs that Indians had camped there and many had died of the plague. They found two small canoes, and with these they ran the river to the sea, dodging logs and rocks en route.

Eventually they reached Fort Rupert, with the help of a friendly Indian chief, and caught a steamer to Victoria. Here they worked with a road crew on Mt. Tolmie for $1 a day, and boarding themselves. Many Overlanders had found their way to Victoria, and Fortune, with a partner named Morrow, established the "Overlander's Restaurant" in the city, which no doubt was a rendezvous for Cariboo miners, for they also operated a rooming house with it.

This was not the end of the road for Fortune, however, for within a year he was once again on his way back to the Interior, to prospect for gold.

Scripture—1 Samuel 8-11

Rejecting Samuel's sons as unworthy successors to the judgeship, the Israelites clamored for a king to lead them. God instructed Samuel to give them what they demanded.

Out searching for some day-boys, Saul seeks Samuel's favours. Because God has revealed Saul to Samuel as the chosen king, Samuel honors and anoints him.

Samuel calls the Israelites to Mizpah where, with God's help, Saul is elected king. Samuel outlines the duties, rights and limitations of the new government.

Saul defeats the invading Ammonites and the Israelites celebrate their new national life with burnt offerings and sacrifices.

Recognition Of Red China
Urged By Canadian Church

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The United Church general council Tuesday night unanimously approved a recommendation that it reaffirm its stand that Canada should give de facto recognition to the government of mainland China.

The recommendation, placed before the council by the committee on church and international affairs, said the action should be taken "in full recognition of the rights of self-determination of the people of Nationalist China."

The council decided to make the stand known to Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin.

The committee's report said there is hope not only for a better material life for the Chinese but for a gradual modernization in the brand of communism being taught by Mao Tse-tung.

"The Soviet Union's slow but gradual swing toward the West and away from China is another reason why the Peking regime must make its own way in the world without a powerful friend or ally of any kind," the report said.

BOATING TRIP TO CHURCH

MONTICELLO, Ky. (AP)—Rev. Delmar Rogers sometimes finds his congregation in day clothes.

But this is only natural because many of the worshippers come by boat.

Once a month, the young minister of the Methodist Christian Church conducts a 30-minute Sunday evening service at nearby Lake Cumberland.

He describes his water-side service as an effort to unite pleasure and Christianity. His pulpit generally is the deck of a boat.

"A lot of people in our congregation have boats. Rather than let the boats become a wedge between them and their families to the church, we have the service at the lake," the minister said.

"Let's say its accommodating. Those with boats feel they're putting them to good use."

The service is sponsored by the young people of the church. It began last summer and attendance averages about 100 persons.

Dress is informal though the minister explains how ash for some measure of dignity.

"The people definitely are on vacation. Some stay on their boats during the services."

The services are limited to 30 minutes of music and a brief sermon.

The playground-church site has acquired a nickname: Christian Point.

United Church Council Reshuffles
Its Young People's Organization

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The United Church general council reshuffled its young people's organization and created a new young adults program Monday in one of its busiest days since the 31st biennial meeting began last week.

To be known as Kairos, the Greek word for "meaning-filled time," the new organization will have a new philosophy as well as a new name. A report to the council by the board of Christian education had recommended the change.

Kairos had been in existence only a few hours Monday when it announced to the council that it had come to agreement with the Anglican Young Peoples Association of Canada to hold their biennial conferences as a joint meeting in 1966.

The theme of the new organization is to be "new era, new order, and new life."

Another measure presented Monday, which was expected to result in a sweeping change of the United Church's geographical system, was deferred for at least two years when the council meets again.

MUST PASS MEDICAL

In a hotly debated session Monday, the council approved a recommendation that ministerial candidates pass a stiff medical examination before being admitted for ordination.

Also approved was a recommendation that students asking to enter the United Church ministry from schools outside Canada be required to take additional training if their standards are not considered by the board of colleges to be on a par with Canadian accredited theological colleges.

A report on ecumenical council affairs that cautiously recognized the efforts of the United Church and other Christian churches toward world union was heard by the council. "Our ecumenical experience with other churches with whom we seem to have more in common than with the church of Rome, serves to sober our judgment about the possibilities of growth toward church union," the report said.

"However, we believe that we must interpret the readiness of large numbers in the Roman church to seek after unity through repentance and renewal as a sign of movement of God's spirit in the church."

The council was told by the committee on chaplaincy that all United Church chaplaincy vacancies have been filled in the last two years. There now are 37 ministers serving 100,000 United Church people in the armed forces, the report said.

The council session ended Thursday.

THE ROMANS MOVED RIVERS

In this age of technological wizardry never sneer at the past. The Roman engineers who designed this aqueduct in Spain were brilliant men. Skill such as theirs, more than the might of Caesar's armies, fashioned the vast civilization of the Empire.

In this age of scientific discovery never overlook the Truths long ago revealed.

Christianity was born in a remote province of ancient Rome. It suffered generations of persecution until it converted even its persecutors. And when barbarians overran the Empire, our faith found a foothold in their hearts as well.

In a civilization of modern marvels the Church still raises its towers of truth. And when, next Sunday, we come with our families to worship, somewhere a congregation will be singing:

O where are kings and empires now? But, Lord, thy Church is praying yet—
Of old that went and came? A thousand years the same!

Proposed New Divorce Law
Causes Stir In Santiago

SANTIAGO (Reuters) — A country where 90 per cent of the population are Roman Catholics, the bill passed to follow submission to almost inevitably will revive the Chilean Congress of a pro-divorce struggle which took place in 1961.

The bill, advanced by a woman deputy, Mrs. Rodriguez, her party's policy on the problem of divorce. It is the seventh time the bill has been submitted to the Chilean law permits annulment of a marriage on "separation of board and bed" for a year.

Until now, decisions on such matters have been given by the courts. But the bill, if passed, would give the courts the right to annul marriages.

The difficulty of getting a divorce decree has prompted people to seek subterfuges. One of these is legal adultery, which leaves the way open for automatic annulment and remarriage.

Separation of board and bed prevents remarriage. But Chilean lawyers say it is easier to get an annulment than a separation. In the case of a divorce, both wife and husband agree to cheat the law and be. But in the case of annulment it is necessary to present corroboratory evidence.

Last year, 4,000 couples sought annulments. The courts granted them in 3,000 cases.

MONTREAL (CP)—The general conference of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada was told today that the number of ordained ministers in the denomination has grown from 13 in 1917 to 666 this year.

Dr. Charles M. Wortman, general secretary-treasurer of the church, said Pentecostals are Canada's fastest growing denomination.

Dr. Wortman said the ethnic character of the Canadian assemblies breaks down into 320 English-speaking churches, 17 French, 33 German, 26 Slavic and 10 Finnish.

The 1961 federal census stated Pentecostals in Canada number 147,000, an increase of 32 per cent during a 10-year period, he said. In the same period, two other denominations increased at a greater rate than the country's population growth — Lutherans 48 per cent and Roman Catholics 38 per cent.

Dr. Wortman reported increased activity by Pentecostal churches in social service work.

VERNON (Star) Posing in a setting of gaudy candles and candles in red roses, Trinity United Church in Vernon was the scene of the wedding of Emily Barbara Turndash of Vernon and Const. Harvey Neil Bolton of Williams Lake B.C.

Miss Turndash is the daughter of Mrs. George Turndash, R.R. 2, Vernon and the groom, Mr. Bolton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bolton of Penticton, B.C.

Mr. Blake Pittman officiated and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a classical long-length gown of corded white tulle with a sweep train. It featured an empire bodice trimmed with lace applied in a wide band.

She also wore a sheer sack with a slight fullness in the back. Her court train fell from the shoulders with the bottom marked with wide appliques.

The headpiece was composed of a cascade of roses, lavender, and lily of the valley, bound with two bows in front made of the same material as the gown. She wore a veil over her face as she entered the church and during the ceremony. Her only jewelry consisted of a pair of pearl earrings.

She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white orchids and smaller white roses.

MOSCOW (CP) — Development of the Vancouver-Vladivostok trade route would be a good thing for both Canada and the Soviet Union, leading businessmen from Moscow and Toronto agreed today.

John Taylor, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, said the route between Canada's West Coast and the Soviet Far East seems to offer the best possibilities for expanding trade while reducing the costs of transporting goods between the two countries.

PETER'S PATT

We spend about $6,000,000 to keep over 19,000 people in B.C. prisons in one year and squander billions on armaments yearly—weapons sold outmoded—and think nothing of it. But when it comes to providing facilities for our own welfare, we talk at the costs. Things like more ice area, an indoor swimming pool, a chronic hospital, etc.

What do you do with a fairly restricted number of hours of leisure time available, almost a constant yearly figure... and with four or more organizations demanding more each season to meet growing needs? This is the dilemma faced by the arena commission each fall during their busy-up ritual.

Last week when the interested parties got together to thrash out the hockey problem it became more acute. Junior hockey representatives cried for more practice time. Minor hockey wanted extra periods it could get its hands on. Other groups like the Kelowna Figure Skating Club and Commercial Hockey League enthusiasts fought to hold their times or adjust to better times for their groups... and all could use much more.

A small concession gained, perhaps by all, is the fact there will be later evening times. Last season, the rink closed slightly at 10 p.m. except on special occasions. That is the time terminated then. Now they will go until at least 11 p.m. most nights.

But it is not the answer. Sooner or later other ice will have to be made available. This means another rink and right now it looks as if an outdoor artificial rink is the answer. With over 60 youngsters registered at minor hockey rinks last year—and the number grows each year—there just isn't enough time available for them unless you think an average of eight and a half minutes weekly per boy is adequate... I don't.

Not to be the answer to abandon support of an indoor swimming pool as one commission member suggested. A pool is every bit as necessary as a rink using the same arguments and justify more. We need both and so the B.C. Club needs new expanded facilities to meet their growing needs. Likewise, who can argue against a chronic hospital?

So why can't we have all, not one in sacrifice of the others? Magistrate D. M. White astutely observed "most people wouldn't care if the cost of keeping B.C.'s prisoners were 10 times the amount." Now why object to providing the cash for something constructive to counter prison costs?

Steen Starts On Comeback

VANCOUVER (CP)—A track meet billed as a warm-up to next month's Olympic Games may become, for one athlete, the first step back on a four-year path to world competition.

Shotputter Dave Steen has held, at some time, every Canadian record in his special event. But he won't be going to Tokyo for the Olympic Games this year.

The 1964 Olympics faded from his sights when the 22-year-old was stricken with mononucleosis last April.

Now he feels he is on the road back and he'll compete in the Olympic preview today with his eyes on the 1968 Games.

The preview brings together Canada's Olympic team of 14, five of the Trinidad team, 15 athletes from Jamaica and 10 top American track and field personnel.

The 100-metre race shaped up as the most dazzling. All of the competitors have done 10.2 seconds or better.

Bauer's Funeral Re-Unites Line

KITCHENER (CP)—The Boston Bruins hockey team saw the club's famed Kraut line together for the last time Friday as players and executives joined in a final tribute to Robert R. (Bobby) Bauer, 49, who died Wednesday after a heart attack.

The 16 Bruins players, headed by Weston Adams, club president, and general manager Lynn Patrick, were among the hundreds attending the funeral service.

Other hockey notables included Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, and Kitchener-born Frank Selke, retired general manager of the Montreal Canadiens.

Milt Schmidt and Woodrow (Porky) Dumart, Bobby's linemates on the Kraut line were pallbearers.

The trio grew up in the twin cities and shared a stardom together with a friendship that endured when their playing days were finished.

DON'T LOOK SO WORRIED COACH!

Coach Dave Sparrow looks painfully distressed as he observes immaculate Ducks go through their paces at a recent workout. It's not certain whether he felt the jarring tackle that felled the ball carrier during the team's inter-squad scrimmage or if some glaring mistake caught his searching eye. The club is honing up for their first game of the season, an exhibition contest at Okan today. Their baptism by fire in the Okanagan Mainline Football League comes on Friday, Sept. 25 at E.K.'s Stadium in a night game against Penitence.

Pirates Douse Giants' Flame But Willie's Magic Returns

By MIKE RATHY
Associated Press Sports Writer
San Francisco Giants are just about out of the National League pennant race, but Willie Mays has a magic number.

Mays reached the magic figure Friday when he returned to the San Francisco lineup after a two-game absence and hammered his 42nd and 43rd homers in the Giants' 4-3 loss to Pittsburgh Pirates.

It was the 49th time in his 13-year major league career that Mays had hit two or more homers in a game, tying the National League record set by Mel Ott with the Giants over a 22-year period from 1926 to 1947.

The all-time record of 71 is held by Babe Ruth.

Mays previously had tied two other National League homer records this year.

This is the ninth season in which he has hit 30 or more homers, tying the mark held by Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews, and the fifth season in which he has hit 40 or more homers, tying the record shared by Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, Chicago's Ernie Banks and Duke Snider, when he was with the Dodgers.

The Giants' loss left them eight games behind National League leading Philadelphia Phillies, who were beaten by Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 but still maintained their six-game lead.

COLTS EDGE METS
Second-place St. Louis Cardinals were rained out at Cincinnati after building a 4-0 lead through four innings against the Reds. Chicago Cubs and Milwaukee Braves were also rained out while in the only other game played, Houston Colts edged New York Mets 3-2.

HEAVY RAINFALL
Liberia is deluged with rain, up to 180 inches, during its short rainy season.

Yogi Won't Talk But Yanks Dig In

By JOE RECHLES
Associated Press Sports Editor

The rise in the fortunes of the New York Yankees has brought a change in manager Yogi Berra.

During those doubtful days when the team was struggling in third place, Yogi remained confident, predicting even after defeat that the Yankees were going to win the pennant.

Now that the team is back in its customary position at the top of the American League Berra has become cautious.

Yogi was in the midst of peering out his work clothes about after Whitey Ford had shut out Kansas City Athletics 6-0 Friday night to assure the Yankees of remaining on top when he was asked whether he was prepared to say the Yankees were in.

"No," he sported. "Every time I say something like that something happens. I said we'd win the pennant after we beat Baltimore two out of three a couple of weeks ago, and you know what happened?"

"Every time I say something like that something happens. I said we'd win the pennant after we beat Baltimore two out of three a couple of weeks ago, and you know what happened?"

"Mickey Mantle got hurt and missed the whole series in Chicago."

"I'm not going to say anything more until we check the pennant. I don't want to just say it."

The Yankees increased their lead over Baltimore Orioles to three percentage points Friday night. The Orioles trailing Los Angeles Angels 1-0 while Chicago White Sox dropped to third place, losing to Washington Senators 5-4.

Baltimore, trailing the Angels five percentage points for an 8-5 lead, battled back and finally won on a two-run homer by Jerry Adair.

In other AL games Friday night, Boston Red Sox edged Minnesota Twins 1-0 and Cleveland Indians defeated Detroit Tigers 3-1.

New York's Whitey Ford recorded his 15th triumph against the Orioles, winning his first complete game since July 19, four weeks ago, when he pitched a shutout against the Yankees.

First three runs in a four-run second inning. Three walks by Kansas City starter Bob Meyer preceded Kula's two.

One error by Brooks Robinson and two by John Oates helped the Angels to six runs in the fifth inning, five earned.

Adair won it in the seventh following reliever Ed Siska's walk to Norm Sauer.

A ninth-inning sacrifice fly by pitcher Enter Dick Phillips brought in the winning run for the Senators.

The White Sox had tied the game 4-4 in the fifth inning on Mike Hershberger's three-run triple and Floyd Robinson's single.

Edmonton "Beefs Up" Line In Bid To Topple Lions Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
 Coach Neil Armstrong of Edmonton Eskimos and Bud Grant of Winnipeg Blue Bombers have different ideas on how to win Western Football Conference games. Armstrong, who will lead his fourth-place Eskimos against British Columbia Lions in a televised game in Edmonton starting at 8:30 p.m. MST, promised to "throw the ball" and indicated he may lead up his offensive line.

Grant, who will lead his last year's Bombers against Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina in a televised game on the CBC Western network starting at 8 p.m. CST, says he will put two men on fullback Hugh Lampert.

Should the strategies fail, the coaches and players both said they would "go out and win" with their own "style" and "play" to see who can win.

The Lions meet the Roughriders in Calgary Tuesday in a game that will be carried on the CBC Western network.

ADD TWO GLARIS
 The Lions defense line, which has lost four players, will add two Canadian Football League players.
